

Hands & Voices

Call for Board Members!

As a member of Washington State's dynamic Hands & Voices team you have the opportunity to learn about new information to support your child while being part of a collaborative and caring group of parents and professionals.

We're a volunteer-driven non-profit organization dedicated to supporting families with children who are DHH without a bias around communication modes or methodology. We provide families with the resources, networks, and information they need to improve communication access and educational outcomes for their children. Our outreach activities, parent/professional collaboration, and advocacy efforts are focused on enabling DHH children to reach their highest potential.

Washington Hands and Voices is looking for parents and professionals to fill multiple executive board member positions. Board meetings are held every other month in Seattle, but video conferencing is available for those living in other areas. Sign language interpreting is provided at all meetings and events.
